

FILM STUDIES GREYFRIARS SIXTH FORM

TASK 3: Micro-elements of Film

For this task, you need to think of a scene from a film of your choice. It should be between 1-2 minutes long. It might be the opening scene or a dramatic finale, the choice is yours.

Use the language of micro-elements of shots and angles to complete a short analysis of the director's choices and decisions.

Your response should include

- screenshots of key moments from the scene
- short written notes to accompany each screenshot explaining the effect you think the shot or angle has on the audience.

Here are some opening scenes to give you some ideas:
